

Introducing CommuniKate

Welcome to CommuniKate, your personal phone and communications assistant! Prepare yourself for a new way of handling all your communications needs.

CommuniKate becomes your virtual secretary, unifying your voice, fax, and E-mail communications, and making them easily available to you from any phone or PC. Whether by phone or through your personal website, CommuniKate is sophisticated enough to adapt to the way you do your communications.

Get to know CommuniKate and the services she provides. You may be thinking that CommuniKate has a lot of features and will take a while to learn. True, CommuniKate does a lot, but she is also very easy to use. You can operate CommuniKate entirely by your natural speech commands, and she will remind you what to say if you forget what your options are.

For now, take a tour and walk through the many amazing features CommuniKate has for you. In time, you will learn to tailor CommuniKate's many features to most efficiently handle your communications.